Thank you Gary, the problem with the convention is that I am in Italy not in USA...

Yes a style 292 and serviced, great price too! Can't say for sure if the dial is original or refinished but looks nice.

We are no experts here but we've sure seen some cross our path in the last 5 years or so.

Ebay will have them show up every now an then, price is like a roller coaster. The best venue to find one in my opinion is the NAWCC Regional/Conventions. The next one of interest is in June, Dayton OH. This is Gruen country and with this many tables, there is good certainty that someone will know of someone or have one to sell. I'll be there and sure others will be there too for their Gruen searches.
