Honestly, I'd have been interested in attending but the time frame is not good for me. Also, I'm not convinced that it is yet a good idea with a pandemic still raging with a significant chunk of the population unvaxed for numerous reasons (that seemingly defy logic for the most part). Also, airfare is kinda nuts too.

Am kicking around going to the York, PA regional. It has been a good one in the past. Hopefully in the Fall things will be clearer for travel.

....and as Cubs fans everywhere used to say: There is always next year.
