I picked up a nice Cartouche with an 835ss movement. After tearing it down and cleaning it runs pretty well but needs a new intermediate bridge and stem.

It looks like the watch in the 1929 advertisement. Does this watch have a model name other than what's in the ad?

Guild Watches --- GIFTS that once princes alone could give!

Princely! That is what you would like to make your gift. Yet it must be within your means.

Of all gifts, most worthy to be called princely is a guild watch. For centuries, it was a gift only royalty could afford.

Guild watches today, though now within the reach of all, still carry the same feeling of richness.

For every watch by the modern Gruen Guild has been fashioned in the same tradition of fine workmanship which made the old guild watches so highly prized.

PRECISION

This GRUEN pledge mark is placed only upon watches of higher accuracy, finer quality and finish—none less than $50. Made only in the Precision Workshop.

Look for the mark PRECISION on the dial

The modern Gruen Guild was organized among men whose fathers were watchmakers before them.

Many of these present-day guildsmen can trace their ancestry to famous guild masters of centuries ago.

Pictured here are examples showing the distinctiveness of their creations.

For the beloved one who heads your Christmas list — why not a princely gift—a Gruen-Watch?

Your Gruen jeweler can show you the Guild Watches illustrated here; also many others to suit the taste of every member of the family. Prices $3500 to $27.50.
