
Subject: Re: WTB -- Chrono-Timer

Posted by afire on Mon, 17 Jun 2013 00:20:48 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Thojil wrote on Sun, 16 June 2013 21:50Possibly you'll find one cheaper in a regular auction. On the other hand when you check chrono24.com you will see that prices are way higher (gold for 3,000€ and steel for 2,250€).

Chrono24 dealers tend to price on the high side. And I wasn't suggesting that these show up all the time or are easy to snag for under $850, but as with pretty much anything, if you wait for one to show up as a NR auction, that's how you're likely to get the best price.
