How to Care For Your Fine Gruen

You can always be proud of your Gruen—the finest watch that the finest watchmakers in the world know how to make. It is sturdily built to give accurate, dependable timekeeping through the years.

Naturally, you will give your Gruen the care and attention that a fine watch deserves. You can help maintain its precision accuracy by following these few rules:

Wind your Gruen fully, at the same time each day, preferably when you arise in the morning.

Prevent dust, lint, cosmetics and moisture from coming in contact with your watch.

Do not open the back and expose the movement.

Remove a wrist watch when washing your hands.

If the crystal becomes cracked or chipped, have it replaced promptly.

At certain intervals your Gruen should be cleaned and oiled. The time of servicing depends upon the size of your watch. A pocket watch need not be serviced more frequently than once every twelve or eighteen months. A wrist watch, because of the smaller movement, should be serviced more often.

For servicing, regulating or repairs, take your watch to a Gruen jeweler. You will find him reliable.
